

I think that we need to treat all of our businesses equally. Just because one company donates more campaign contributions does not mean that it is a better company. Let the best person win.